

Electronic Submission Information

1. Taipei Economic Inquiry welcomes both theoretical and applied economic manuscripts with academic significance in terms of their originality and contribution.
2. Manuscripts can be written in either English or Chinese, but published or translated works are not acceptable. Contributors need to indicate in submission letters that their manuscripts are not currently being considered elsewhere for publication.
3. Lengths of the submitted manuscripts cannot exceed 20,000 words. Abstracts written in both English and Chinese up to 500 words, keywords, and at least three JEL classification codes are required. Then, TEI will proceed with its anonymous reviewing process. If manuscripts are accepted, the authors must prepare them based on guidelines in the following section. [For manuscripts written in Chinese, the formatting guidelines are described in http://www.ntpu.edu.tw/econ/download/index.php?class_id=8]
4. The associate editors of TEI can directly reject submissions with poorly written English or Chinese (including abstracts). The right of editing the accepted manuscripts is reserved.
5. Authors of published papers are entitled to ten reprints of their articles and one copy of the issue in which their articles appear.
6. Please submit manuscripts in Word or PDF format via email to the Editorial Committee: econtei@mail.ntpu.edu.tw. The submission should comprise the entire paper without author affiliations or acknowledgements and a separate page with that information included.
